"I very much hope you will enjoy reading our Brand Portfolio brochure so that you can see the extensive product range we are able to supply to your door.

It also gives you a great insight into the wide variety of our Joseph Holt beers in cask, keg and bottles that we have been brewing for the last 173 years. We are extremely proud to operate as an independent family brewer with the sixth generation of the family now joining the Company.

Thank you very much for the business that you kindly give us."

HOW TO LOOK AFTER BEER

From our Head Brewer Phil Parkinson

1. Stillage beer immediately
2. Allow the beer to reach cellar temperature
3. Clean the shive and the keystone
4. Vent using a hard spile within 24 hours of the beer reaching cellar temperature
5. Tap the cask using a clean tap
6. Replace hard spile with a soft spile
7. If conditioning is brisk or lively, replace soft every few hours
8. Hard spile the beer, then check a sample in the cellar for clarity, aroma and taste
9. Attach a clean beer line, remove the hard spile and open the tap
10. Pull through the beer to the bar
11. Tilt the cask when 2/3rds full
12. Hard spile the beer at the end of each trading session

Bootleg Brewing Co. started brewing in 2010, housed in the Horse & Jockey pub and is currently the only brewery in Chorlton. The Horse & Jockey pub has been a staple in Chorlton since the 1800's so having a home inside such a historic pub, very much complements our delectable range of new craft beers.

The micro-brewery was converted from the shell of the tower where the old disused brewery once stood and still remains there to this day.

As strong supporters of real ale and knowing from our own experience how important it is to keep the craft alive, we sponsor several festivals throughout the year. These include Stockport Beer Festival and our very own Chorlton Beer Festival.

Since our humble beginnings, we have now expanded our cask range with new craft beers that include: Urban Fox, Speak Easy, Fool's Gold, Twisted Groove, Black Market, Spun Gold, Back Street, our Seasonal festive beer Christmas No.1 and the new premium indie lager Spin Doctor to complement our existing product range.

CHORLTON PALE ALE

MENABREA is Italy's oldest continuously producing brewery. Located in the northern town of Biella, the family have brewed their remarkable birra using their own special recipe for over 170 years.

It's brewed with glacial water direct from the Alps, barley from the Champagne region, and floral, fruity Hallertau hops from Bavaria, then matured for 30 days in underground caves.

Should you visit Biella today, you'll still find Menabrea brewing their award-winning beer on the same site, made in the same way, by the same family, with the same ingredients, passion and care.

Can a better tomorrow start today? Probably.

At Carlsberg, we believe that working together makes everything possible. That's why we've partnered with WWF to enable pub-goers to help the planet while reuniting with their family and friends, simply by choosing a pint of Carlsberg.

When he founded Carlsberg in 1847, J.C. Jacobsen set a clear purpose: "In working the brewery, we should be in constant pursuit of better."

Today, our pursuit of better goes beyond the beer. We are in the midst of a climate and nature crisis, which is why we're proud to be working together with WWF to make environmental changes that have a big impact; by helping to restore the small but powerful plant, seagrass along the UK coastline.

Known as 'an underwater Amazon', seagrass meadows can absorb carbon up to 35 times faster* than a rainforest*. The UK has lost over 90% of its seagrass meadows, which is detrimental to the environment because seagrass plays a vital role in maintaining healthy seas that are not only home to our amazing ocean wildlife, but also support businesses and communities up and down the country.

With our beloved pubs fully back up and running, Carlsberg is working with selected partners to make a donation to WWF for every pint of Carlsberg Danish Pilsner that is served. So now, something as simple as the beer you choose, can help make a positive impact on our world, giving beer drinkers such as yourself another reason to feel good about enjoying a cold pint in their local.

This is the next step of our journey to take positive action towards developing a better future for the planet. But Carlsberg is also playing its role in other ways; by removing plastic rings, Carlsberg Snap Pack minimizes the use of secondary packaging and also minimizes CO2 emissions.

And that's not all. Driven by our purpose, we remain committed to encouraging positive change for our planet wherever possible. At Carlsberg, we aim for zero carbon emissions from our breweries around the world and a 30% reduction in our beer-in-hand carbon footprint by 2030, compared to 2015.

That means making the most efficient use of everything we touch – whether it's energy or water in our breweries, the ingredients in our brew or the materials in our packaging. Take the newest Carlsberg bottle – available on Carlsberg Danish Pilsner, Carlsberg Export and Carlsberg Special Brew – it's 10g lighter than the one it replaced. In just six months that saved 63 tonnes of glass.

We've gone right down to the green ink on the bottle labels and boxes, making that better too. Traditionally green is hard to recycle, but our greener green ink is Cradle™ certified, which means it's fully recyclable and made using renewable energy.

And at the Carlsberg Laboratory in Copenhagen – where the pH scale was invented and the first pure yeast extracted for brewing – a team of scientists is working on the next breakthrough in cutting water waste and carbon emissions. Their work could revolutionise brewing, creating not just the best beer in the world, but a better beer for the world.

So, does that make your beer taste even better? Probably.*
